Afghanistan What Was It All For?

Sadly, with the passing of the 20th anniversary of the 911 terror attacks and the British and American soldiers being withdrawn from Afghanistan. Most of this issue will cover subjects related to Afghanistan and the invasion of the western world.

The world has never learned from the past, just look at the past 20 years, and the invasion of Afghanistan. Our treacherous governments told us it was a war against terrorism. No, they invaded the country just like the Soviet Union did back in the 70's. It took them a decade to find and destroy Bin Laden and that was not even in Afghanistan but in Pakistan.

During the 20 years of this so-called war, we witnessed horrendous terror attacks across the world. Never knowing where or when they would happen. So then, the war against terrorism was not having an affect if anything it drove more to kill more innocent people.

After going into Afghanistan our useless governments then decided that they needed to go into Iraq because they believed that they were shielding more terrorist from Al Qaeda and had more weapons of mass destruction. The weapons of mass destruction were proven to be a lie, but hundreds died, and thousands suffered life changing injuries and even more struggle daily with mental effects of being sent to both these countries.

The treacherous governments went into Afghanistan angry after the 911 attack. They never had an end goal. All they would tell the public was they were on target. This is why we saw it change from a war on terrorism to helping the people of Afghanistan. By helping they meant attempt to turn the country from what they had into something western with democracy and such like. Of course, this could not and would not work as the Afghani leadership that were not Taliban were corrupt and sought power and wealth, of which they would never would have obtained under the Taliban control.

Even before the withdrawal started the Taliban were gaining control around the country, as they were never beaten. As the withdrawal got under way they took back more and more of their country. Our hopeless leaders knew that they would regain total power but believed that the trillions wasted on building and training an Afghani army would defend the capital city but no they laid down their weapons and gave up straight away. As for the so-called elected president, he reportedly stole millions and then fled even before the withdrawal was complete.

But to add insult to injury in the haste of the last weeks of the withdrawal that had to be speeded up because of the Taliban taking control of Kabul. The Taliban ceased most of the equipment supplied to the Afghani army and much more that was abandoned by the troops as they left. But that was not the end we are now having to take in more Afghani's because they are at risk because they turned on their country and their country folk to help us and do not want to abide those that have only fought to keep their country their own.

So again. What was it all for?

Nearly two years ago to the day, the sun shone down over Shropshire, bathing people in its glorious heat, food and canapes served on demand, drinks flowing freely, children ran around the lawns playing, everyone in good spirits surrounded by the most idyllic grounds of the beautiful 16th century Madeley Court Manor House Hotel that stood before them.

I remember it well. I was there. It was my wedding day.

For years we had planned our perfect day. We chose the venue as we had stayed there previously. The location, next to Ironbridge (the home of the industrial revolution) was perfect. The cuisine equally as exceptional and the building itself, full of many of its original features... simply gorgeous. Apart from the births of my beloved children, I genuinely had the best day of my life.

Our guests all commented on what an amazing time they had and how they had been spoilt by the ever-hardworking staff at the hotel. Nobody wanted for a thing, just as we had hoped.

During the planning of the wedding, we built up a fantastic rapport with the hotel staff and management team, we would regularly go for meals there, overnight stays or even just a drink by the lake at the back, both before our wedding day and up until lockdown. We were lucky to find a place that had so many special memories for us.

Why am I writing this? Well...lets fast forward to now. I called the hotel earlier today to book a table for our fast-approaching anniversary (something we done last year and planned to do every year) but was told that the hotel was not taking bookings for that date. I asked to speak to the manager, and I was put onto a person I didn't recognise. I asked what had happened to the previous manager and was told that the staff have changed and moved to other hotels. I then asked if we could just attend for a drink. Again,

Wedding Day

I was told that no bookings were being taken. So, I explained about my anniversary and asked if it would be possible to just go by the building called The Mill, where we took our vows, and take some pictures...especially as there is a public bridal way that passes behind it. I was then told that the hotel grounds and road leading to it, including public bridal way was off limits as it had been "requisitioned by Her Majesty's Government".

I asked if it was to house the inevitable Afghani refugees but was told that it wasn't. I asked if there were already migrants staying there and the reply was "yes, until they have been processed". When I asked where they had come from, the rather embarrassed manager said, "to be honest, I really don't know...all over by the looks of it" he then told me that it was mainly men staying there followed by "you really don't want to stay here at the moment, I'm sorry I can't help you more".

I broke the news to my wife who was as upset as I was. I then went online and saw many reviews and complaints from people who have had their wedding days cancelled in order to house these illegal economic immigrants. Money and time wasted, plans thwarted, and dreams shattered just to look after men who have entered this country illegally and for financial gains.

The nearby town of Telford is already suffering with a huge problem of Islamic child grooming gangs. The police have been questioned on film by other nationalist groups and simply will not comment as the problem is that vast and deep within the system, they are powerless to do anything...yet here we are, shipping more and more, very likely, Muslim migrants into that area, free to roam the streets as they please. They come from lands where violent crime, murder and child abuse is the norm, they simply will not and can not change their third world ways overnight.

That is our government of today. Too scared to stand up to this vile left wing 'woke' Marxist nonsense that we are being force fed. Too concerned about their own greed and corruption within their ranks to look after their own folk. This is the UK in 2021 and its only going to get worse.

Changes need to happen, for the sake of our children, they need to happen soon. As our once great nation falls around us, we must come together and rebuild from within. The time to do that isn't tomorrow, the time to do that is now.

A Day of Action

The Britannia Hotel group, for some time has been the home to asylum seekers awaiting appeals and decisions.

So much so that the owner was dubbed the asylum King due to renting out the hotels to the home office.

Over the lock down period, locals noticed 6ft high metal sheets being erected. Security guards are posted at both entrances 24 hours a day. The hotel will not accept bookings anymore from the general public, so basically, it's now an immigration holding centre in at but name.

Due to local anger and security fears, remember these individuals are free to leave at will and complaints about some of them following women are common on Facebook.

After being approached local BM activists with support from PA, we held a peaceful but visible demonstration. The police were out in force and the 30 of us in attendance in fairness were left to have our demonstration.

Banners were on show one summing up the mood "Soldiers On The Streets, Immigrants In Hotels".

After the hotel we went to a fly over to unfurl our banners once again. The response was overwhelming, with a barrage of car horns and thumbs up.

We then left with locals to a local pub to chat about how to keep the pressure on local councillors to stop this madness. A good day was had by all in attendance.

Beacon of Hope Worldwide

"Adolf Hitler was someone we respect. He taught us how to preserve national identity.... we support his ideology". Probably a statement that anyone reading 'The Emblem' would concur with, but this is a quote from 'Big Brother' the 45-year-old co-founder, along with Ariunbold Altankhuum, of the Mongolian National Socialist organisation 'Caḡaañ Xas' or, in English, 'White Swastika'.

To understand the above we have to look at a few factors. The only other country to become Communist (1) in the third decade of the 20th Century was Mongolia following the 'People's Revolution' on 1 March 1921. Obviously, Bolshevik Russia decided to support another Communist regime on its southern border, and Mongolia existed as a Soviet satellite state until its peaceful, democratic revolution in early 1990. It has always amazed me that a peasant nation (with a nomadic population making up approximately one third of its total) turned to a political ideology intended for heavily industrialized countries where the majority of the people are considered 'working class's - but such are the contradictions of Marxism.

In 1992 Mongolia adopted a new constitution, a multi-party system and moved from a 'Command Economy' to a 'Market Economy' ("Out of the frying pan, into the fire"!!). Now this is where I think all the Countries who broke free from the yoke of Communism made a massive mistake. Instead of immediately throwing their lot in with International Capitalism, and letting these parasites have "first dibs" on the wealth of their nations, they should have adopted a position of 'Economic Nationalism' (2), thereby retaining all valuable assets under their own control, and valuable assets Mongolia does have in abundance. Discovered in 2001, the 'Oyu Tolgoi (3) Project' in the Gobi Desert has been described as the "biggest mining exploration project in the world" (4) and is being developed as a joint venture between 'Turquoise Hill Resources' (5) with a 66 per cent holding, and the Mongolian government with 34 per cent. It was expected to boost the Mongolian economy by about a third in 2020. Annual output in its first decade was due to average 330,000 tons of copper and 495,000 ounces of gold. But, as with all things Capitalist, not everyone has benefited. Granted Mongolia's economic growth has helped to reduce poverty by more than 11 per cent in recent years, but there is also a rising inequality in terms of income distribution. Poverty is 35.5 per cent in rural areas, compared to 23.2 per cent in urban areas, and this is a problematic situation.

Mongolian Nomadic Herdsmen (and women) are the "keepers of the flame" when it comes to Mongolian tradition and heritage. They are the heirs of Gengist Khan and are a racially defined national body "as against nomadic groups who have no feeling for whatever Country they settle in" (6). Obviously, the Gobi Desert is located in one of the driest areas of Mongolia, with rainfall between zero and 50mm a year, but it is estimated that water demand will triple in the next two decades mainly due to mineral exploitation in the area. Herdsmen worry that the 'Oyu Tolgoi Project' is draining the region's water supply, since it uses more than a billion gallons of water a month (7). So, here's where Caḡaañ Xas step in. Not only are they against foreigners taking over their homeland, they take a strong anti-Chinese stance and they have total opposition to interracial marriage (8), but since 2013 they have been fighting against pollution resulting from foreign owned mines in Mongolia. As Ariunbold Altankhuum says "We used to talk about fighting with foreigners, but some time ago we realised that is not efficient, so our purpose changed from fighting foreigners in the street to fighting the mining companies". 'On a patrol to a quarry in grasslands a dusty two-hour ride from the capital (Ulaanbaatar), members wore black SS-style uniforms.... They questioned a mine worker...., opting to come back in a week when the owner returned', and that was not a one off. White Swastika are aiming to reclaim their country, they may not be Europeans or Aryans, but they deserve our admiration and support. I'll leave the last words to Altankhuum: "The reason we chose this way is because what is happening here in Mongolia is like 1939, and Hitler's movement transformed his country into a powerful country". Prost Comrade, Prost.

(1) Outside the 15 nations of the USSR, founded in 1922, and all formerly part of the 'Tsarist Greater Russian Empire'
(2) 'Economic Nationalism' by John Tyn-dall is, for me, a "must read" on this subject

(3) 'Turquoise Hill' in English
(4) David Grainger, CNN Money (Fortune Magazine), 22 December 2003
(5) A majority owned subsidiary of Anglo-Australian multinational metals and mining corporation 'Rio Tinto', whose CEO is the Danish businessman, Jacob Stausholm

(7) Keith Schneider, 24/7/2014
(8) "We have to make sure that as a nation our blood is pure. That's about our independence...If we start mixing with Chinese, they will slowly swallow us up. Mongolian society is not very rich. Foreigners come with a lot of money and might start taking our women" Anonymous follower of 'White Swastika'

Australia

And so, it continues

Well, who would have thought that the Covid scenes shown around the world could have happened in Australia?

I for one, never for a minute could have imagined seeing or believing this down under.

When I first came to Australia in 1988 the country was so laid back you could fall over, I think the saying goes.

Our local pub was a job centre where every building boss would drink on a Friday after work, they would pay the workers, take new workers on, sack the workers who were a little too laid back and got into the Aussie spirit a little too much!

As most workers collected their wages straight after work, work clothes were the norm, shirtless and bare feet prevailed, and we always laughed at each other's white suntan line where the socks stopped.

This was the Australia I first witnessed.

How the country has changed now, overtaking a lot of the western world in the measures implemented to keep her citizens in check, the recent covid outbreak has seen some of the most extreme lockdown rules seen anywhere even giving communist China and North Korea a run for their money.

Troops have aided the police in lockdown measures on the border crossings between states and territories, aided the police in knocking on people's doors to make sure lockdown is being observed and generally being on the streets as a presence to keep people at home and indoors where they should be, they've also been helping to maintain the mask wearing policy.

Sydney has also seen a 9pm - 5am curfew in which the troops were seen out and about enforcing.

Citizens in NSW have been told to only shop in supermarkets, when necessary, with no talking to others or browsing the shelves and to hurry home.

The reason told was you had to treat everyone as a Covid carrier, and this will help prevent the spread further.

People have been asked to "dob on" each other, in other words call the police if they suspect neighbours of having friends around, this has been happening even though the act of dobbing is seen as one of the most un-Australian things you can do. The chubby leader in North Korea would be extremely happy with these measures taken I would think.

Reports of four new quarantine camps being built next year have surfaced, this is to house 1000 returning Australians from overseas so they can do the mandatory 14-day quarantine period, the federal government wants a vaccination rate of 70% - 80% once this target has been achieved the government will open the international borders once again.

If other stories are to be believed they could well be housing the Australians who don't want to be vaccinated also.

I'll be trying to smuggle future emblem articles out of the camp if this happens. Time will tell.

In a very disturbing story coming out of South Australia it's been reported that anyone from the said state returning from Victoria will have to apply for an SA health exemption to be allowed in. If granted approval they will be issued with this sign and it must be displayed on the front of the home, to say they are in isolation.

It beggars' belief.

This family was separated when the New South Wales and Queensland borders were locked down. The wife stayed in QLD to run the family business while the husband stayed in the family home on the NSW side.

Here they are seen hugging on either side of the border separated by the barrier.

Thousands of people have been prevented from working because of their jobs being on either side of the border.

It was third time unlucky for this woman who was trying to be smuggled into Queensland from NSW. After a routine border crossing check the police asked the driver if he was traveling alone. The police then searched the boot of the car and found the woman hiding underneath clothes and blankets.

The police said the pair were trying to relocate to QLD because of the harsh conditions in NSW. If only it was this easy to stop the dinghies from France.

Then there's this rule which could see Sydney sid-ers hit with an $11,000 fine or 6 months in prison. To qualify for this, you have to cross the road in the wrong place, this part of the road is opposite a shopping centre. Houses are 50 metres either side of the shopping centre.

Bizarre.

The states premiers and health ministers seem to be really enjoying the power this covid outbreak has brought, in Victoria all children's playgrounds were shut down, this was a result of the equipment being able to transmit the virus between kids the parents were told.

The Victorian chief health officer when quizzed at a press conference couldn't give one instance of the virus spreading through playgrounds and it transpires that he was having a go at the parents because he believed they wouldn't comply to his directions and stay indoors.

This was the real reason the playgrounds were shut.

According to media reports Melbourne will also have the longest lockdown record in the world when it overtakes Buenos Aires on September the 23rd, it will have had 235 days of lockdown compared to 234 in Argentina.

I shake my head in disbelief at how Australia has changed and what it has become and as in the rest of the world this will now be the new normal, I suspect.

Just in

NSW is touted to open in October to the so-called new freedom.

That's once 70% of the population has been double dosed as they are calling it.

It's just been reported that business owners of retail shops, pubs, restaurants etc who let unvaccinated patrons into their premises will be subjected to major fines.

There will be posters on the shop windows indicating the premise is vaccinated and only the vaccinated will be allowed in, the poster will be in a prominent position in the shop window and easily visible.

Apparently, a lot of details still need to be ironed out, on how proof of vaccination will work and be enforced.

Business owners will have to register their staff with the state government to prove they are vaccinated.

The unvaccinated at 70% will have no additional freedoms, it's all about vaccinated people and vaccinated businesses opening up the deputy premier of NSW Mr Barilaro has said.

The Communist state of New South Wales in Australia will now be making the unvaccinated people officially 2nd class citizens.

If I've said it once I've said it a hundred times I cannot believe this is Australia, and this is about to happen here.

More News

In latest news, Qantas has announced that when international travel reopens in December or so it's hoped, passengers will be forced to get vaccinated if they want to fly on international routes with the airline.

The Qantas CEO Alan Joyce said only passengers who've been vaccinated will be allowed to fly.

The reason given was that the vaccinated needed to be protected

A Gathering Storm

Over past numbers I have made clear the growing resentment against the NI Sea Border & the EU's desire to essentially claim British territory as a two fingered gesture to the British majority who opted out of its nationally ruinous agenda. The anger has not abated as the EU reiterate that to placate its financial designs that Ulster be part of an economic United Ireland. Protests continue and are ongoing as Ulster folk demand that we be treated as British rather than a bargaining chip for the ambitions of imperial globalism.

For whilst the UK opted out of obligations to take millions more refugees under the EU dictate, were Ulster to remain as a Euro province then by extension we would be subject to hosting hundreds of thousands of economic parasites and chancers.

Not only be our supermarket shelves be empty, but we'd be obligated to house, clothe and feed whole generations of ethnic aliens washing ashore. Already hotels have been earmarked for such Befarios projects which has added to community consternation and concern. Formally wholly indigenous towns are seeing the first buds of this weed.

Whilst Ulster is in many respects a society both rural and parochial in outlook, multiculturalism is playing an increasing role here and as elsewhere the results are far from harmonious from drugs, grooming, inter-ethnic and religious conflict to the fact that migrants are increasingly prepared to work in tandem with Ulster's more traditional enemies, our home grown Fenians who despite a bogus peace process continue to attract the British community here. When republican thugs decided to attack the tiny Tyrone loyalist enclave of Moygashel, they found willing partners in crime in the form of the area's burgeoning foreign national community. That Moygashel and its community reject multiculturalism and have been the subject of national, indeed international media hate made it an ideal target.

However local youth, unaffected by the malaise of media repelled the invaders and with the police unwilling to do their job (terrified of been seen to be racist) are now effectively patrolling their own area with both republicans and their dusky friends well warned of what lies in wait.

The police, headed by a delusional Englishman are now distrusted by a majority of the pro-British community, their refusal to act during a variety of armed displays of red terrorists of which they had advance notice did nothing to quell concerns, similarly Police Scotland facilitated a march by dissident republican thugs, with literally hundreds of police protecting the vermin of Glasgow who in effect were allowed to piss on the memorial to those murdered by republican scum. Readers will note both the numbers of cops required to police the event and the banner of the "revolutionary communist group" always keen to support the political comrades of the IRA.

Politically the Glasgow event could not have happened without the support of its city council, a council dominated by Sinn Fein's SNP friends!

Also, politically it seems likely that with the political shenanigans of international unionist schisms, Sinn Fein seem very likely to be the biggest political party following the next election, both a shock and a wakeup call for ulster folk regardless of religion, for after all SF are now a party very open about their Marxism and its desire for full blooded communism a la Cuba.

Of course, SF are welcoming to refugees, including those headed our war from the hell hole of Afghanistan viewing the flotsam and jetsam as the voting base for their agendas and yes, migrants from wherever they arrive are a natural voting bloc for SF wouldn't you expect unionist/loyalist parties to be robust in opposing immigration?

Not with Jeffrey Donaldson & Doug Beattie in charge, both affirming their multiracial and multicultural credentials in demanding that Ulster gets its quota from Afghanistan, yet local folk face a housing and health care crisis, we must find room to accommodate those the Taliban are keen to expel! Whilst SF voters may actually believe in this cosmopolitan nonsense, the level-headed Ulsterman will neither vote nor subscribe to this nonsense!

A wise man opined that democracy would be the forerunner of Marxism, across these islands we are seeing his grim prophecy becoming reality.

The task falls on the BNSM to provide an alternative!

The "Loyalist Engagement Survey: Protocol, Policing and Politics" was created to ascertain Loyalist perspectives pertaining to the Northern Ireland Protocol, the Police Service of Northern Ireland, Loyalist voting intentions and to gauge support for the Belfast/Good Friday Agreement.

Still No End in Sight

On Sunday 12th September many were celebrating that the idea of the Covid Passports had been put on the back burner.

Now there are many who say this is down to the pressure put on the government by the people getting out there and protesting. Others say that the government just used the idea to make sure the younger ones went and got vaccinated. So, they knew they could socialise if they want to.

But was it just a compromise, as from next week they will be offering the vaccine to children (healthy children aged 12–15-year-olds) against the recommendation of the JCVI? They said that giving the vaccine to healthy children does not have much benefit as most will not suffer from the serious complications if any from Covid-19. Children in the same age group with health complications have already been offered the vaccination. The scientist are taking over yet again. Not looking at the data that is out there for all to see or are they getting different data that is not available to the rest of us. So, far the government have stated that parental consent will be needed for in this age group but how long will that last.

Then on Tuesday 14th September the bumbling prime-minister announced that we have two plans of action. They are planning a vaccine booster for those with underlying health conditions and for people over the age of 50.

The same line was used a lot again that they will follow the data. If the data shows that deaths and hospital rates increase to much, they will start bringing restrictions back in. Most around the wearing of masks and bringing back the Covid passport for social venues and large events. They also added that people should meet outdoors.

Sadly, we are still living in a sort of limbo as the government and the mad scientist are at logger heads with each other the scientists want the country locked down until the virus is gone but the government know more lockdowns will kill the country on many levels. There are rumours that there will be a circuit breaker lockdown around the October lockdown.

We have had a taste of freedom and many people are trying to get back to a normal life. Meeting with others, kids getting back to their normal activities and sports.

But there are still those who live in fear but are they living. Most are the double vaxxed who blame the unvaccinated for spreading Covid, yet they can still spread it. They are not living as they are also the ones who are testing themselves as many who will not get the vax do not test unless they have symptoms. Some of these people still wear masks everywhere and glare at those that do not. They still will not cuddle and have close contact with their loved ones.

But most that have decided not to have the vaccine are not anti-vaxxers, they just do not wish to have an experimental drug pumped into their body. The trials for the vaccines do not end until 2023 but even then, the long-term effects of the vaccine will be unknown for years to come. It seems like everyone has forgotten about Thalidomide in the 60's.

One of the worrying things with some of the vaxxed contingent with the help of some of the worlds so called leaders is that they are wanting a two-tier system where those who are unvaxxed are blocked from society. Some even go as far as saying that the unvaxxed should not be allowed medical treatment. One point that most of these seem to blank or avoid is that if the vaccines are so good why are they worried if others do not have the vaccine they are protected.

Now I am lucky I know many who have had the vax for many different reasons, and all have accepted that is my choice not to have it. Same as I accept that they have their reasons for having the vax. But most are within our community and keeping our community strong is more important.

Banishing Our Way of Life

The local pub or club were always a focal point of the local community. Slowly but surely, they are taking this away more and more.

Pubs and clubs were where everyone met. Most pubs had their teams of skittles, darts, and domino's. Day trips were organised. As well as many other events they all took place in the pub. Most pubs had a couple of rooms the bar and the best lounge and a lot would have a separate function room. Where people would have their wedding receptions, christenings celebrations, birthday parties and funeral wakes. The local was a part of everyone's life in one way or another.

On a daily basis pubs and clubs close never to open again. They are sold off and are either knocked down or converted to many things. Some for living accommodation, supermarkets, or Muslim centres.

In South Essex this is happening to a pub that has been a major part of the community for nearly 200 years. It truly was more than just a pub it was used for civil court proceedings and coroner's inquests and lots more. The Barge in Vange, closed in 2015 and was purchased by the South Essex Islamic Trust and they want to use it as Islamic community centre. Twice the plans have been rejected due to parking issues, but it looks like they will get it passed this time round. Another Pub gone forever.

Readers Thoughts...

With everything that is happening around the world and threat to our way of life we often get smaller pieces and readers thoughts these are just a couple that has been received.... Thank you for sending your thoughts.

AFGHANISTAN WHY INVADE?

If like me, you are wondering why Britain joined with America to invade Afghanistan. Well, it is not because of the attack by al Qaeda on September 11th, 2001, it is all about US foreign policy is based on the concept of "full-spectrum dominance," which requires global US control of military, economic and political development.

Afghanistan is also rich in resources like copper, gold, oil, natural gas, uranium, bauxite, coal, iron ore, rare earths, lithium, chromium, lead, zinc, gemstones, talc, sulphur, travertine, gypsum, and marble and has always the globalists wanted the wealth for themselves. The wars in Afghanistan and Iraq were about U.S. imperialism, not terrorism. The people of the western world must at some stage realize that the tragedy still playing out in Afghanistan is the fault of the USA and its allies not the people of Afghanistan. The American government also want to attack Iran every chance they get because World Bank has no presence there. Let's not forget who trained the Taliban in the first place the CIA when they were fighting the USSR so it's the fault of that organisation for what's happening today but those in control will do anything to force Iran to allow the world bank to get a foothold there and to rob the country of the above-mentioned resources.

Even if there was a genuine reason to invade such as to end terrorism you only have to look at the history of trying to invade Afghanistan it's never been successful many have tried ancient Greece, Persia and many more including the British Empire and now after twenty years countless numbers of dead the USA led coalition has also failed to do so and they Afghans were the cause of one the worst military defeats in the history of the British army Churchill said of the Afghan people Every man's hand is against the other, and all against the stranger in other words the might fight each other but will unite against a common enemy if only the white race did the same but in case of the UK America says jump and our treacherous governments asks how high we should never have got involved but did thanks to that arch globalist Blair lastly I apologise for using a quote by that Zionist traitor.

Before the start of the evacuation from Afghanistan, they told us that America needed to evacuate 75 000 people and the UK 5 000 people.

This included the American and British citizens as well as the Afghans who worked for America and the UK.

Bo-Jo the clown then told us that he wanted an extra 20 000 Afghans to come to the UK during a number of years.

Why?
He did not say.

After the evacuation, they told us that America had evacuated 123 000 people, including 6 000 American citizens, and the UK 15 000 people.

This means that America evacuated 48 000 people more than needed, and the UK 10 000 people more than needed.

Bo-Jo the clown still wants his 20 000 Afghans to come to the UK.

They are telling the Taliban that all the Afghans who want to leave Afghanistan must be allowed to leave.

With 90 percent of Afghans living in poverty, this is a lot of people.

Make no mistake about it.
The Pakistanis who raped 1 400 White girls during 16 years in Rotherham are not supporters of the Taliban.

Islam prohibits having sex outside marriage and the supporters of the Taliban follow Islam.

The Pakistanis who raped 1 400 White girls during 16 years in Rotherham are like the Afghans who are coming in today, not like the Afghans who support the Taliban!

Snuck In and Left to Stroll Around Freely

Many around the country and the world have tried to warn everyone that many of the illegal invaders coming across the channel are not fleeing in fear. Many are fleeing because they see us as a soft touch. They do not want to abide by our laws and rules.

It has hit the mainstream media. That one Afghan that illegally entered our country across the channel is accused of drugging, raping, and murdering a 13-year-old girl in Austria in June this year.

This man was allowed to roam the streets freely for weeks, claim asylum and be put in an hotel all paid for by those of us who work hard and pay our taxes. He was only arrested after a tip off from Austria police.

When he entered our country, he gave false details and immigration control had no way of checking.

Yet again another case of us being put at risk by those who supposedly control this country.

The images below show the poor young girl that was murdered.

She meant her killers through social media. Please check what your children are doing on social media and who they are talking too.

We Will Have Our Country Back!

BRITAIN is in rapid decline. Decades of subversion by the political Left and stupidity or worse from the political centre, the liberals and conservative Right has totally undermined the spirit and structure of what was once Great Britain. Successive governments have duped the British people into accepting the constant influx of foreigners, immigrants, economic migrants, asylum-seekers foreign investors, foreign companies, foreign banks, foreign customs, foreign cultures, foreign religions, foreign attitudes. Successive governments have embroiled Britain in un-winnable overseas conflicts, wars which do not offer Britain security but leave the UK vulnerable.

Large scale non-white immigration coupled with years of almost state-sponsored multi-culturalism, rampant materialism, and mind-numbing popular entertainment has undermined traditional British values and turned the ordinary British worker into a soulless consumer, addicted to fast food and the slop poured out by decadent, multi-national media, hooked into international brand-named industries. The time has come to call a halt to the betrayal and corruption of the British people by these so-called democratic forces.

The time has come to force radical changes with radical ideas of British National Socialism.
